

MANAGEMENT QUIZ REPORT

It was on the 25th of March, 2019 that the Department of Commerce held its first ever Management Quiz. Starting as a suggestion from Ma'am Rowenna Lyngdoh langrai, the suggestion was brought to life by the students of the 4th semester. The students volunteering to be part of the organizing committee promptly started all arrangements including collection of participants, stage set-up ideas, preparation of guest lists, mementos, certificates and the like. The students along with the teachers of the Department hashed out all necessary details regarding the event.

On the D-day, the event started at noon with a total of 9 groups participating – each group named after prominent contributors to Management Theory. The atmosphere was an energetic one with both participants and the audience engaging enthusiastically by answering questions posed to them. The quiz consisted of various rounds including a rapid fire round and an audio and visual round. Time passed quickly and points built up as the rounds progressed. The final round called for a representative from each group who ended up being the face of the group at the final moments.

The events of the day came to its end with the declaration of the winners and distribution of mementos and certificates to the participants. After all was said and done, everyone present was invited to partake in the much awaited for refreshments. And with this the event came to its successful close.

Despite being the first time holding such an event, all hiccups were successfully smoothed out and it served as a learning process for the batches to come.
