ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

The successful implementation of the Add on Course on "The Basic Concepts of Social Research" by the Sociology Department of St. Edmund's College, Shillong, owes much to the diligent efforts of Mr. F. E. J Syngai, the Head of the Sociology Department at St. Edmund's College, Shillong.

The staff of the Sociology Department is extends our gratitude for the constant support we received from:
Br. (Dr.) Simon Coelho, Principal I/c, St. Edmund's College, Shillong.
Prof. M. Chakravarty, Vice Principal (Administration), St. Edmund's College, Shillong
Dr. Capt. K.P. Pallavi Malhan, Vice Principal (Academics), St. Edmund's College, Shillong
Prof. Sumit Deb, IQAC Coordinator, St. Edmund's College, Shillong.

I express my heartfelt gratitude to the esteemed resource persons who have generously shared their expertise and wisdom throughout the duration of the course. Ms. F. E. J Syngai, Head, Department of Sociology, St. Edmund's College, Shillong, Ms. N. Syiemlieh, Faculty, Department of Sociology, St. Edmund's College, Shillong, Mr. Z. Khashim, Faculty, Department of Sociology, St. Edmund's College, Shillong, Mr. S. Sarma, Faculty, Department of Sociology, St. Edmund's College, Shillong, S.R. Marak, Faculty, Department of Sociology, St. Edmund's College, Shillong. Dr. O.N. Gonzalves, Research Facilitator, Incubation Cell, St. Edmund's College, Shillong. Their dedication and commitment have played a pivotal role in empowering our students with invaluable knowledge and equipping them with the essential tools necessary for conducting meaningful research. Through their insightful guidance, mentorship, and unwavering support, they have not only imparted theoretical concepts but have also instilled a sense of confidence and proficiency in our students, enabling them to navigate the intricate landscape of research with competence and clarity. It is through the collaborative efforts of these distinguished individuals that our students have been enriched with a deeper understanding of the research process and its significance in contributing to the advancement of knowledge and societal well-being.

The unwavering commitment demonstrated by the sixth semester students of Sociology at St. Edmund's College, Shillong, towards this course has been truly commendable. With a sense of purpose and dedication, they have approached each session with enthusiasm and diligence, embracing the opportunity to expand their knowledge and hone their skills. Their consistent attendance and active participation reflect not only their passion for learning but also their respect for the subject matter and the efforts invested by their instructors. Furthermore, their ability to diligently complete all assigned tasks within the designated timeframe is a testament to their discipline, time management, and accountability. By fulfilling their academic responsibilities with such dedication and conscientiousness, these students have not only demonstrated their commitment to their own personal growth and academic excellence but have also set a shining example for their peers to emulate. Their unwavering dedication serves as a reminder of the profound impact that passion and perseverance can have in achieving success and making meaningful contributions to the academic community.

COURSE STRUCTURE

The following section will describe various aspects of the Add On Course. It is highlighted under the following heads:

3.1 Course Description:

Research, as defined, entails a methodical exploration and examination of materials and resources with the aim of uncovering truths and generating fresh insights. The course has been meticulously designed to introduce students to the expansive realm of social research within the discipline. Our approach is fundamentally grounded, with the primary objective of acquainting students with the fundamental principles that underpin social research methodologies. Through this course, students will embark on a journey of discovery, delving into the foundational concepts that serve as the bedrock of social research. By providing a comprehensive understanding of these basic principles, we aim to equip students with the essential knowledge and skills necessary to navigate the intricate landscape of social research confidently. Our goal is not only to impart theoretical concepts but also to foster critical thinking and analytical abilities, empowering students to engage in scholarly inquiry and contribute meaningfully to the field.

3.2 Programme of the Course:

This course was divided into 8 modules. Each modules managed by a faculty member of the Sociology Department and one module by the Research Facilitator of the college. The programme of the course is listed in the table below:

The course comprised a total of 8 modules, each ranging between four to eight hours in duration. Within this timeframe, four hours was allocated for the assessment of students' tests, assignment, and the provision of feedback on both the course content and conduct. To facilitate seamless communication and interaction, all assessments, assignments, and feedback sessions were administered and received electronically, utilizing email platforms and Google Forms.

Despite encountering unforeseen stoppages due to the Lok Sabha elections, which resulted in several unexpected holidays interspersed throughout the proposed schedule, the course remained committed to its objectives. Recognizing the importance of ensuring students' completion of the curriculum, the course was extended beyond the initially stipulated dates. Additionally, to mitigate any disruptions caused by the holidays, online classes were organized to cover the remaining material and ensure the comprehensive delivery of the Add-on course content.

Through proactive measures and flexible adaptation to unforeseen circumstances, the course maintained its dedication to providing students with a thorough understanding of the fundamental concepts of social research. The commitment to extending the course and conducting online classes underscores the unwavering commitment of both instructors and students to academic excellence and the pursuit of knowledge despite challenges encountered along the way.

3.3 Mode of conduct of the Course:

The course was held offline and online (Google meet platform), over the period of 17 working days. The duration of the eight modules was ranging from four to eight hours, with the total course comprising of 34 (thirty four) contact hours and 4 (four) for assessment and feedback. The resources available in the college were used like room 8 for conducting the course and the projector to show the power point presentations.

3.4 Grading Policy:

Students were assigned the following grades following the New Education Policy 2020 (NEP 2020), based on the complete course assessments.

TESTS AND RESULTS

Assessments were systematically administered for each module through Google Forms, featuring multiple-choice questions (MCQs) meticulously crafted by the respective resource persons. This structured evaluation approach aimed to rigorously test students' understanding and retention of the diverse topics discussed throughout the modules. In addition to these assessments, students were also required to complete assignments, which served to further reinforce their learning and application of the material covered. This dual approach of testing and assignments was designed to provide a comprehensive evaluation of the students' grasp of the course content.

6.1 Methodology of evaluation:

Each test had a variation of marks ranging from 10 to 25. In total, there were 6 (six) tests and one assignment was given. The total marks for all were 100 (one hundred. Marks from the tests and assignment were then used to obtain a final percentage score. Percentage of marks was converted to a grade (Refer to 3.4- Grading Policy). Only students who had scored a minimum of 40% and above are eligible for certificates (refer to Appendix B for sample certificate).

6.2 Composition of tests:

Students were given a link to a Google form containing the test at the end of every module. They were designed by the resource person to cover the portions of their topic(s). Each test can be completed within the stipulated time of 30 (thirty) minutes.

6.3 Results:

The details of the marks scored and the final percentage attained is listed in the table below:

I think the value added course should be introduced in every semester cause it will be very helpful for the students.

No specific suggestions, but would like to mention that the course was really beneficial.

Practical activities would make learning easier

A big thank you to the department for bringing this value added course to my academic journey. The course had given me much needed knowledge and new understanding with regards to Research Methodology. My suggestion would be that these values added cources continue and especially, start from the Lower Semesters 👍

More materials to be studied

I don't have any.

If the class happened earlier in the semester, it would be easier and we could learn more but it helps a lot too in my academic.

Very useful

Nope

For my honest suggestion, if the course were organized a bit earlier in the semester, it would be more convenient and knowledgeable for us. And yes it's also really helpful for my future career.

Online classes were more convenient.

Any suggestions for future Value added courses.

How about a course on "Global Issues and Solutions"? The course could explore the interconnectedness of these issues and examine potential solutions from various perspectives, including government policies, technological innovations, and grassroots movements. It would provide valuable insights into the challenges facing our world and empower students to contribute to positive change.

Hope to see more

Not at all

No.

Courses like digital marketing, cybersecurity, project management, communication and interpersonal skills can provide valuable skills and knowledge that can help the student in the competitive job market and career.

Online classes should be taken for the add on course.

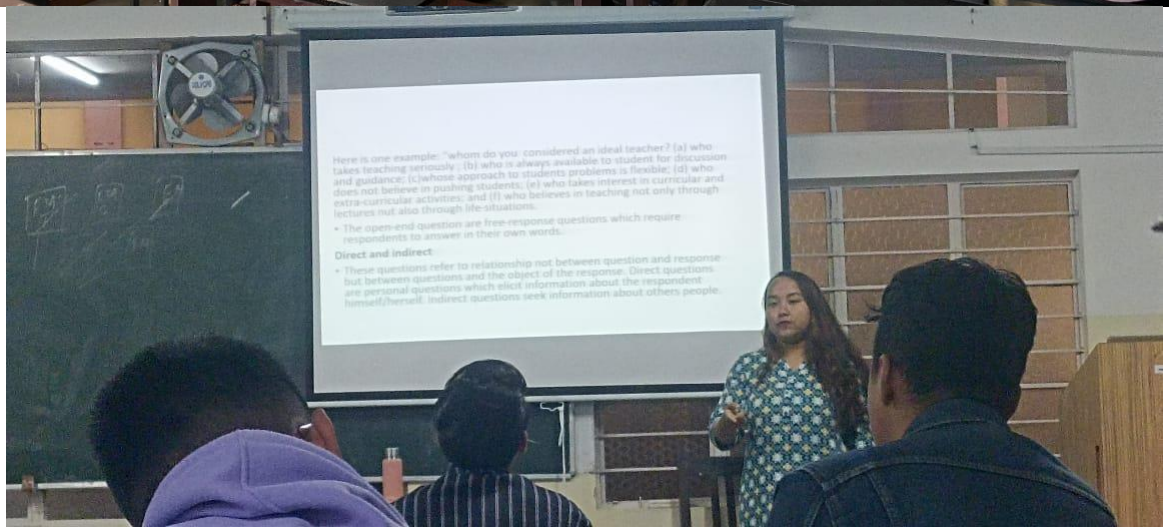
BALANCE



Here is one example: "whom do you considered an ideal teacher? (a) who takes teaching seriously ; (b) who is always available to student for discussion and guidance; (c)whose approach to students problems is flexible; (d) who does not believe in pushing students; (e) who takes interest in curricular and extra-curricular activities; and (f) who believes in teaching not only through lectures but also through life-situations.
• The open-end question are free-response questions which require respondents to answer in their own words.
Direct and indirect
• These questions refer to relationship not between question and response but between questions and the object of the response. Direct questions are personal questions which elicit information about the respondent himself/herself. Indirect questions seek information about others people.
