Performance of the Institution in one area distinctive to its priority and thrust

St. Edmund's College has always been at the forefront in sensitizing students to the cultural, regional, communal and socio-economic diversities of the state and the nation. The College celebrates the Annual College Fest EDBLAZON prominently showcasing the socio-cultural, ethnic, regional and linguistic diversities among the College community. The idea is to teach tolerance and harmony to the students and allow them to grow and flourish in an inclusive environment. However, owing to the prevailing lockdown, such activities had to be shelved and new online, contactless activities had been initiated:

- NCC: The cadets took up responsibilities to work alongside the Government agencies to educate people on health protocol during the pandemic. The cadets displayed their leadership traits in representing the state in the Republic Day Parade at New Delhi.
- NSS/RCC: The students kept themselves engaged in cleaning drives, plantations, public services, visits to Orphanages, Old Age Homes and made themselves available at the time of strife and distress.
- Clubs, Societies, Committees: These allowed students to assume responsibilities to organize online activities like in-house debates, quiz and other literary competitions. Each Department enthused the students to take lead roles in the successful publication of the virtual/printed Department Magazine
