The screenshot shows a Zoom meeting interface. At the top, there is a header bar with the Zoom Meeting logo and several participant thumbnails. The main content area displays a slide with the following text:

"Failure"; how do I deal with it?

- It is not expected that you clear every exam, let alone clearing it at first try. Failure is fine; the comeback is more important. It is not the end of the world.
- Learn from your mistakes, as well as other people's mistakes. Understand where your interest lies, but also understand what you may be good at.
- The expert in anything was once a beginner. – Helen Hayes

On the right side, there is a 'Participants (78)' list with a search bar and icons for each participant. The list includes names like Lorraine C Massar, Labet Phanbuh, Banaiboklang, Anika Shadap, St. Edmund's College, and various student IDs.

At the bottom of the screen, there is a Windows taskbar with the search bar, taskbar icons, and system tray showing the date and time as 20:22 on 07-03-2023.

DEPARTMENT OF ECONOMICS, ST. EDMUND'S COLLEGE

CUET-PG became mandatory in 2022 for admissions into Central universities and many other private universities. Many students are however not aware of this new format: the process involved, the dates of registration, the syllabus etc. In 2022, over 14, 90,000 registered for the undergraduate CUET exam and over 9, 68,000 appeared. For the masters level around 3.60 lakh applied to over 50 Central and other participating Universities.

We as faculty members are yet to fully comprehend the nitty gritty of CUET as NEHU and affiliated Colleges did not opt for CUET-UG in 2022. To shed some light on CUET-PG, we reached out to one of our alumnus who had cleared both the CUET-PG as well as the Delhi School of Economics (DSE) entrance exam in 2022 and is currently in DSE. Mr. Banaiboklang Khongtir eagerly agreed and the Webinar was held for the under-graduate major students of the Economics Department, St. Edmund's College.

WEBINAR REPORT

Mr. Banaiboklang Khongtir provided an in-depth coverage of what Economics major students can do after their graduation. He laid stress on preparation for such entrance exam/s based on the personal lines of interest of the aspirants. He suggested alternatives for those with greater inclination towards mathematics and those without. He mentioned different universities with various courses in this regard. He shed greater light on the pattern of entrance exam across the top central and private universities. The way forward was either through self-study or through tutorial centers, laying emphasis on the importance of regular mock tests. Links were shared to (a) access the CUET-PG syllabus, (b) the recommended books for preparation and (c) links of materials available in YouTube. Maintaining a study timetable and keeping a track of progress was stressed. He encouraged group studies to overcome obstacles and finding solutions to difficulties encountered during preparation. Mr. Banaibok's approach was extremely positive and he even requested the participants not to be discouraged and dejected with failure. The sharing of information was followed by a variety of questions from many participants. In short, the webinar was informative, competently delivered, well attended and participated. The department wishes to put on record the enthusiasm, humility and generosity of Mr. Banaiboklang for sharing essential information with students of Economics major and of his alma mater. For this, we remain ever grateful.

The department also wishes to acknowledge the encouragement of the management of the College for holding such events.
